WORKSHEET – LESSON TWO

Research and investigate

Looking back – who’s responsible?

What social issue did you choose last lesson?

Last lesson you thought about what different groups do generally to tackle the social issue that you have chosen. These groups have to adapt to changing circumstances.

Now, think again about each group. This time, use the internet to research and write down one action that each group is taking right now, in response to the pandemic. Your answers should relate to your chosen social issue.

If you are unable to find clear examples of what a group is doing, reflect on that group when answering the Challenge question on the next page.

Challenge

Can you think of any other actions that you would like each group to take?

What are charities doing?

At First Give we would usually encourage you to find charities in your local area and get in touch with them to invite them into school to talk to your class about their work. At the moment this isn't possible.

You are now going to investigate what charities all over the country are doing at the moment specifically to tackle the social issue that you have chosen.

Go online and type your social issue followed by the word 'charity' into a search engine. For example: "Domestic violence charity" or "Homelessness charity" to help you search for three charities which tackle your social issue. Look at their websites and try to find the answers to the questions below for each of your three charities.

Social issue

1. Charity:

What is their mission/aim/purpose?

How long has the charity been running?

How many staff and volunteers are there?

What interesting facts and stats are there relating to the charity?

What they are doing currently?

Challenge

Can you include a range of different sizes of charity in your research? Try to include one that works only in your local area as well as national charities.

2. Charity:

Reflection

In your research and in your day to day you will see things that groups or individuals have been doing to help others. Think about the top two things that you've seen in your research today, in real life, in the news or on social media recently. Write them down here.
